Message from the Editor:

The end of another year is approaching and I still do not have everything done that I want to do. I think genealogists in general are always in this predicament. We tend to always take on more than we can do.

Sometimes The Longhunter becomes one of these difficult projects to complete. I am pleased with this issue because my name is not all over every submission in the issue. The membership and others friends have given me entries that should be of general interest to our members. We have a variety of submissions. Perhaps at least one will be of interest to you.

My hope for the coming year is to improve the quality of The Longhunter by asking you, the membership, to become involved in writing and submitting articles of interest. Remember that our goal is to promote genealogy in the counties of Allen, Barren, Butler, Edmonson, Logan, Simpson, and Warren. You know what interests you. Write that article and you may be encouraging or helping another member.

Don't forget to Pay your Dues. Fill out the form on page 191 of this issue. You save your Society money by paying your dues on time. Mailing of back issues is more expensive than our mass mailings of quarterly issues.

Locating McFaddin's Station: Established in Warren County, Kentucky in 1785

R. Spencer Drake
807 Josephine Street
Bowling Green, KY 42101

I have been asked to record information I have concerning the location of McFaddin's Station, an early settlement in Warren County, Kentucky, around the year 1785.

The Filson Club in Louisville, Kentucky had an original clipping loaned to them that was written by Victor Moulder. He apparently spent much time and research in preparation for his article on McFaddin's Station. Many names, dates, and places were mentioned in this well written publication. According to the Warren County, Kentucky census, Mr. Moulder was born about 1867. A family member visited the Moulder graveyard and told me the death date of Mr. Moulder was 1949. He stated that McFaddin's Station was located on Barren River on a farm owned by Emmett Logan and ruins of the old Station were visible at the time the article was written. He probably visited the ruins, as he knew the owner of the farm and its location. Mr. Logan sold the farm to Waller Phillips on 17 May 1917. (Lodged for record 9 June 1917.) Some records show the spelling Walter Phillips, however, Waller is correct.

A paper written by Wyonia Kimbrough (Mrs. R. E. Kimbrough), in 1956, while doing graduate work at Western Kentucky University for Dr. Gordon Wilson's class in Folklore History of Kentucky, stated, "I visited the site of Warren County's first settlement. Most of the remains are gone but the old Buffalo Trail can still be seen as can the big spring which caused Mr. McFaddin to build the fort there in 1786." At this time, John Bryant owned the farm. Her paper is now recorded at the Kentucky Historical Society in Frankfort, Kentucky.

According to an article in the 1884 edition of the Louisville Courier-Journal, McFaddin's Station was located on Barren River, nearly opposite the mouth of Drake's Creek. The Logan home was also opposite the mouth of Drake's Creek.

A book written by Irene Sumpter, says that Emmett Logan, Jr. received the home place in a division of the Logan property in the year 1909. This is the same Emmett Logan referred to in Mr. Moulder's article, as I find him owning only one farm on Barren River. Accordingly, the ruins of the Station must have been visible between the years 1909-1917. Those were the years Mr. Logan owned the farm.

McFaddin's Station can be reliably assumed to have been on a high bluff above a spring that flows into Barren River. Most settlements needed a good and sufficient water supply. Another reason to believe it was at this location is that the high bluff afforded protection from Indians that were in this part of the County.

One article states that travelers using the Cumberland Trace Road stopped at the Station for security reasons. The top of the bluff extending down river from the Logan farm used to show signs of the Trace Road. Approximately seventy years ago I followed it during the winter months when leavers were on the ground and the road was easier to see. I have not seen a map showing the road to be at this location but was told by my father and "old timers" in the neighborhood that it was the old Trace Road.

My father was a schoolteacher at Collett School about the year 1920. The school was located a half mile or so from the Emmett Logan farm. Older people that were in the area told him of knowing about McFaddin's Station and that it was on a bluff near the Logan home.

I have many recollections of the Waller Phillips farm that had been purchased from the Logan family. Several large, black walnut trees stood in the front and side yard of the Logan house. A later owner sold them for one hundred dollars each. The baseboards in the front rooms of the house were of beautiful black walnut. The first tiled bathroom I remember seeing was in this house. The tile was small in size. Metal tubing ran from a ground floor to a room upstairs. A hinged cover was on each end of the tubes and was opened while talking with people from one floor to the other.

The water system was unique for the period of time and the Logan family probably installed it. Metal legs supported a large metal tank with the bottom of the tank at a height sufficient for water to flow by gravity into the house. About half way down to the spring a concrete roof covered a small gasoline engine that sat back into the bluff. (On 26 July 2000, I visited the old Logan farm and the concrete roof is still in place. A resident living on the farm was glad to learn of its use.) The engine pumped water from the spring to the water tank by way of metal pipes. The bottom pipe extended into a square concrete pit filled with spring water. My father bought the engine and used it to pump water from a well at our house. A large maple tree was at the beginning of a downward path, which I would follow to the spring on many occasions.

Large chestnut trees stood on the Logan farm. When Mr. Phillips owned the property, the Business College of Bowling Green would bring the students for an outing and they would gather chestnuts. I have gathered a peck meal sack one half full of chestnuts in a matter of several minutes from a large tree on the Phillips farm in front of my home.

In summary, the Louisville Courier-Journal article and the one by Mr. Moulder, plus information in the Irene Sumpter book and the paper by Wyonia Kimbrough tend to agree on the location of McFaddin's Station. Also, word of mouth statements by older people who lived in the neighborhood, deeds of record at the Warren County, Kentucky Courthouse, and maps showing the location of Barren River and Drake's Creek all lead me to believe that McFaddin's Station stood on a bluff above a spring near the home of Emmett Logan.

Transcribed by Gail Jackson Miller, CG
425 Midcrest Drive
Bowling Green, KY 42101

The Land Grants South of Green River are contained in 29 books and comprise 15,730 separate grants. They were granted between 1797 and 1866. The grants, sometimes called "Headright Claims" were based on an Act of Kentucky General Assembly dated 21 Dec 1795. Until 1797, no person could enter a survey within this area except a soldier. The 1797 Act of the General Assembly opened up the vacant lands in this area to any person possessed of family and over 21 years old. Such person were entitled to not less than 100 acres and not more than 200 acres. They had to have lived on the land for one year before they came into actual possession. The surveys upon which these grants are based are recorded in 18 books in the Kentucky Land Office. The following are the first recorded in Volume 1 of these grants. They were transcribed from the filmed original Grants South of Green River, Vol. 1, 1797-1803, FHL film 0272828.

Whickey enough to Keep (dose)

Red Oak Bark
Dog fennel
Cinamon Bark

Take a tablespoonfull 2 or 3 times a day.

Boil Black gum bark, red oak bark, dewberry brier root, dog fennel together. If you cannot get dog fennel--make with it. Put what you can hold in your hand good of each. Boil spice and spice cloves, Cinamon Bark together and Strain it all. Mix and put in a bottle. Good for Flux or any Bowell Troubles. This is sure good medicine for we have tried it and know it to be good.

Barren County Connections to the Joseph Welch Will, Lincoln County, Kentucky, 1878

Transcribed by Gail Jackson Miller, CG
425 Midcrest Drive
Bowling Green, KY 42101

Recently as I was working on Joseph Welch, the Revolutionary War Soldier, who married Susannah Harper 15 Dec 1785 in Amerst County, Virginia. The couple lived in Lincoln County, Kentucky from about 1795 through at least 1814. This Joseph Welch owned property on Hanging Fork. In addition to that Joseph Welsh, there was an additional group of Welch men. One of these was also named Joseph Welsh, he was consistently associated with Thomas Welch with both men being jointly taxed in the Lincoln County, KY tax lists¹. The following will for that second Joseph Welch showed several Barren County, KY relationships that might be of interest to Barren County readers. The will was transcribed from Lincoln Co., KY Will Book G, pp. 34-35, Kentucky Archives film 192229.

I Joseph Welch of the County of Lincoln and state of Kentucky being in possession of my common mind and memory, and taking into consideration the uncertainty of Human life, do make and declare this to be my last Will and testament, hereby annulling & declaring void and of none effect, any and all former wills by me heretofore made (viz) Whereas my brother Thomas Welsh late deceased and myself under the firm of Joseph and Thomas Welch have an equitable claim to a tract of land of 200 acres in Barren County on which my brother William Welsh formerly lived, and also have sundry unadjusted accounts against said William Welsh all of which my said brother Thomas Welsh has relinquished to me as per writings. I will and bequeath all the claim to the said Tract of land, and all the claims against the said William Welsh, the title as revivid[?] as aforesaid to the, to the [sic] children borne to my said brother William Welsh by his wife Betsy formerly Betsy Mathews or the survivors of them. I will and bequeath to my sister Susannah Darby and the heirs of her body after her decease all and every of my Estate real, personal or mixed that I may die possessed of except the exceptions herein after made. I except out of this bequest five of the shares of Bank stock that I hold in the Bank of Kentucky, which I will and bequeath to be divided equally between George Washington Welsh son of my brother William Welsh, and Joseph Welsh son of my brother John Welsh, the profits or dividends arising therefrom to be at the disposal of their respective Guardians for their use and benefit untill[sic] they arrive at the age of twenty one years respectively, and then to be at their own disposal, I also except the riding Beast I may die possessed of Saddle and bridle, and my wearing apparel which I will & bequeath to Joseph W Darby, also if my sister Susannah Darby shall or may hereafter marry, in that case it is my will that she shall have one third of the property herein willed to her and the other two thirds immediately to go to her children or the survivors of them that she had by John S Darby deceased, her former husband and I hereby appoint my sister Susannah Darby, and my Nephew Joseph W Darby the Executrix and Executor of this my last will and testament, and I hereby empower and authorize my said Executrix and Executor or the survivors of them, if it shall at any time be thought proper by my sister Susanna Darby to sell or otherwise dispose of the lands on Green River to sell and convey the same, the proceeds of which must be vested in other lands or funds, so that the value of the real estate shall not be diminished and as it is probably that after my decease, my sister, will be so destitute of friends that she and her son would find it difficult to give security it is my wish and bequest that my Executrix & Executor may have letters of administration granted to them without security being required of them. Signed by me this 26th day of December 1878.

[signed] Joseph Welch

Kentucky Lincoln County Sct

At a county court held on for Lincoln County on Monday the 5th day of June 1878 the last will & Testament of Joseph Welch deceased was exhibited into court and proven by the oaths of William Craig, John Kincaid and Neal East to be written entirely in the hand writing of the said Joseph Welch whereupon the same was ordered to be recorded, and on the motion Joseph W Darby & Susanna Darby the Executor and executrix therein named who made oath as the law directs, ordered that a Certificate be granted them for obtaining a probate of the said Will in due form of law it appearing to the court that the Testator directed that no security should not be required of the Executors.

The Great Awakening, 1800

Summarized from Edward Coffman, The Story of Russellville, pp. 14-16, Russellville, KY: The News-Democrat Print, 1931.

American church history records three great periods of revival, dating from the years 1734, 1800, and 1857. Each period of renewal followed a time of decadence and indifference in church life.

The Second awakening began in the year 1800, and had its beginning in Logan County, Kentucky. It was here that the awakening spread and it was here that the camp meeting had its beginnings. Ministers James McGready, William McGee, and John McGee were instrumental in the beginnings of this Great Awakening.

James McGready, a Presbyterian minister, had worked in Pennsylvania and North Carolina prior to coming to Kentucky. In 1796, he came to Logan County and began to serve small churches as minister. In 1797, McGready was preaching at Duncan's Hill in Logan County. That same year he organized the Gasper River church. About this same time, two brothers, William McGee, a Presbyterian, and John McGee, a Methodist, came to Green River country to preach.

The beginnings of the revival have been recorded by Dr. L. W. Bacon:

"On one occasion, in the woods of Logan County, in July, 1800, the gathered families, many of whom came from afar, tethered their teams and encamped for several days for the unaccustomed privilege of common worship and Christian preaching. This is believe to have been the first American camp-meeting--an era worth remembering in our history." [Bacon, "American Church History," p. 233.]

POSTSCRIPT TO STORY:

In the story, Madie mentioned Johnny's telling them he'd send them some black onyx. When the girls returned to Goshen, where Madie was a school teacher, they waited several weeks for the onyx Johnny promised, but it never came. They all wrote to him, to no avail. Finally, they talked Madie into writing Johnny, and she did. He gave the letter to another young man in the area, Dan Lee, and asked him to send the onyx. He did. Dan and Madie started corresponding, and he sent her a beautiful piece of dark brown onyx. After two years, the two had met, fallen in love, and were married in 1924. Dan always said he had to marry Madie to get the onyx back! They lived the rest of their lives in or near Cave City, had two children, Iola and Daniel, and would have been married fifty years in April of 1974, but Madie died of heart failure in December of 1973. Iola still has the onyx.
